B. Structure

Journey to Justice is a Charitable Incorporated Organisation and its governing document is a constitution. Its trustees are appointed by the Annual General Meeting.

C. Objectives and Activities

Summary of the objects of the charity set out on its governing document

To promote human rights (as set out in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and subsequent United Nations conventions and declarations) all over the world by all or any of the following means:

-) researching into human rights issues and supporting cross community groups to tell untold stories of local history relating to human rights issues;
-) educating the public about human rights through organising education and arts programmes;
-) raising awareness of human rights issues through running training courses for adults and young people;
-) promoting public support of human rights issues through national programmes in partnership with local community groups; and -) promoting respect for human rights among individuals and corporations by telling powerful stories of the role of individuals in effecting social change.

To promote equality and diversity for the public benefit by:

-) advancing education and raising awareness in equality and diversity; and -) promoting activities to foster understanding between people from diverse backgrounds.

To promote racial and religious harmony for the public benefit by:

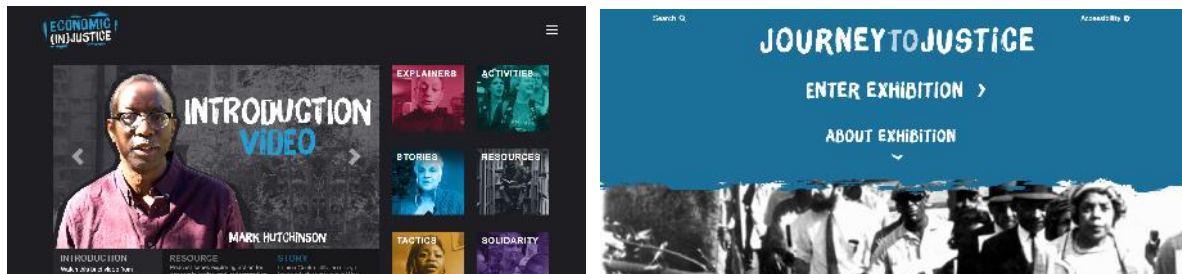

-) promoting knowledge and mutual understanding between different racial and religious groups; and
-) advancing education and raising awareness about different racial and religious groups to promote good relations between persons of different racial and religious groups.

Here is a summary of our Strategic Business Plan objectives 2020-23:

-) Stimulating debate and action by developing a clear, core training package, related to JtoJ mission/aims, that is adaptable/flexible to a variety of contexts;
-) Developing Learning Resources;
-) Reaching wider audiences by creating the JtoJ exhibition online and securing a long-term location to allow people to access it. Continue to work with Norfolk and Cumbria on possibility of holding the exhibition in these locations;
-) Engaging volunteers and reviewing our management of volunteers;
-) Securing funding (including core costs) for the strategy period or find partners who can enable the work of JtoJ to continue;

-) Retaining and recruiting a full set of trustees, including all officer positions, from a broad range of networks and a wide range of diverse backgrounds and experiences, and with the skills and commitment required to carry out their role in line with agreed workplans to ensure a fully functional trustee board can govern JtoJ;
-) Developing a clear position on addressing systemic racism both internally and externally and continually review against it;
-) Developing, resourcing and implementing a PR and Communications strategy which supports the effective delivery and impact of JtoJ projects and programmes.

Our 'archive of activism' was launched

The big story of our work this year was the finalising, launch and developing use of our two major online resources:

-) our Economic (In)justice project, bringing together inspiring stories of activism, examples of successful tactics, 'explainers' looking at causes and effects of wealth inequality in the UK, and a range of resources and links – all at www.economicinjustice.org.uk
-) a full online version of our travelling exhibition, including the stories from the US civil rights movement and its links to UK struggles, alongside over 100 histories of activism from all over the country – all at www.jtojhumanrights.org.uk

During April and May a wide-ranging team of volunteers coordinated and led by Carrie and a strong steering committee, worked to make these projects a reality with our three outstanding partners, namely:

-) Hannan Majid and Richard York at Rainbow Collective
-) Andy Donald and Bernie Donohue at Vanishing Point Creative
-) Peter Pavement, Sally Moorhouse and Nicola Lucas at Surface Impression

The grand online launch of these two resources on June 17th was attended by over a hundred people. It can be seen at <https://journeytojustice.org.uk/the-grand-double-launch/> . We are grateful to Henry Stewart for chairing the event superbly.

Meanwhile Abi, Carrie and Vanishing Point continue to work on the 'suitcase', a physical version of the Economic (In)justice resources which will be ready by autumn 2022.

We said 'goodbye' to Carrie Supple

On 31st July we gave heartfelt thanks to Carrie, our founder and first Director, and paid tribute to her huge achievement with messages of love and admiration from a wide range of friends, family and fellow activists. Journey to Justice exists because of her, and the extraordinary achievements of the past eight years are down to her inspiration, energy, creativity and dedication. While she will be sorely missed, she remains an active volunteer running our Twitter presence and taking a lead in the creation of the 'suitcase' and the mini documentary on class and education (see below).

In a goodbye message Carrie quoted our patron Baroness Helena Kennedy:

"it is ordinary people who actually give life to human rights by their activities and campaigns for change."

Shortly before stepping down, Radio Merseyside interviewed Carrie on International Women's Day. <https://journeytojustice.org.uk/jtoj-on-bbc-merseyside/>

We took the discussion forward

Although we no longer had a director and were surviving on minimal funding, we moved into the summer and autumn with three important strengths: our rich online resources, a core team of dedicated volunteers and the good fortune to have Dr Abi Rhodes as our Economic (In)justice volunteer project coordinator. Abi not only took forward the work on the 'suitcase' and mini documentary but also made possible a series of events that promoted awareness of our work and resources and advanced discussion of the issues surrounding wealth inequality and activism.

Lived experience of economic injustice

On 25th August we collaborated with Discourse and Politics to run an online event that brought academics together with people with lived experience of economic injustice in the UK. Speakers included Louise Cooke from Sharewear and Chrisann Jarrett and Kimberley Garande from We Belong.

Building power from the grass roots

In October – in the run up to the International Day for the Eradication of Poverty - Abi gave a lecture to the Workers Education Association looking at the underlying causes of poverty and inequality and sharing some of the forty or so stories we have collected.

Activist Museum Award

On 10th November Abi and Carrie showcased our work to students, researchers and practitioners from across the cultural sector at an event hosted by the School of Museum Studies at the University of Leicester. Also presenting at the event were the Museum of Transology and 100 Histories of 100 Worlds in 1 Object, with whom we shared the 2020-2021 award.

Class and Education

At the Leicester Human Rights Arts and Film Festival on 5th December, Carrie and Tania talked about the travelling exhibition and then Abi introduced the Economic (in)Justice project with excerpts from our upcoming mini documentary, made by Rainbow Collective. It considers the crucial role class and education play in creating an economically unjust society and explores the lenses through which we view each other. Two of our six contributors, Dr. Elizabeth Henry and Susie Morrow, also spoke.

The mini documentary The Long Shadow of Class will be launched in October 2022 in London, Birmingham and Sunderland.

Leicester University

Journey to Justice was asked to work in partnership with Museum Studies staff at Leicester University in March 2022 to provide and assess assignments for their students related to economic justice. Carrie, Abi and Pat presented JtoJ's work and set the assignments. They asked students to imagine how our stories, tactics, explainers and activities might be used with a specific museum's collection and audience. The students' outcomes highlighted food justice, mental health, gender discrimination and the experience of textile workers past and present. These brought alive the potential of our new resource with approaches which are powerful, practical and transferable, with ideas on how their suggestions might galvanise people to take action for social justice in order to fit with the Journey to Justice mission.

In this period our survival without a director and with limited funding was possible to a great extent thanks to Abi's outstanding work, helped by the core support team of Tania, Pat and Martin.

We explored exciting new opportunities for workshops

Communication Workers Union

Kate Hudson - Head of Equality, Education and Development at the CWU – contacted us after seeing our resources online. She wanted to explore the possibility of working with us. After an online meeting with Kate and Fevzi Hussein, her Policy Assistant, we were invited to Birmingham to run a sample workshop for their regional leads on 21st February. Using a selection of films from our Economic (In)justice site and a range of activities including role-play, we invited participants to:

-) see present-day challenges and injustices facing their members through a historical lens
-) look for the common ground of experience of Black, brown and white workers
-) address the common experience of inequality in our society, through which solidarity can develop
-) think about how the legacy of colonialism is still impacting on workers' pay and conditions today
-) consider at the power of the arts in campaigning -) assess a range of campaigning tactics

Kate commented that our approach

“resonates very strongly with our own Union’s aims as we continue on our own journey to connect positively with different communities ... Many of our union reps and members will already be heavily linked in with community projects. Developing our relationship with JtoJ will help us and our reps to help those communities that our members already serve.”

On 13th March we ran a similar session in Manchester at the CWU’s conference for members thinking of standing for elections. Our session was entitled Antiracism, class solidarity and building community.

The CWU expressed a strong interest in working with us, perhaps in delivering workshops to their activists around the UK. To that end they invited us to run a session with their National Executive in London in the near future.

Take Back the Power

Thanks to Tania's work at The Winch in Camden, on 10th March we ran a taster workshop on race and identity with young people who were part of a social action group. We challenged them to expand their thinking, activism and understanding around issues of inequalities in the UK, including connections between racism and policing. By telling the story of the Newham 8 we used a barometer exercise to frame the debates emerging from this British story in the 1980s and the advice given by Dr Adam Elliott-Cooper on what to do when stopped & searched by the police.

The Winch have asked us to do further workshops in the coming year, perhaps focused on the growing cost of living crisis.

We encouraged children to think about human rights

What sort of world would we like to live in?

After being repeatedly hit by lockdowns and technical issues, our collaboration with Islington Faiths Forum finally bore fruit and we completed a film in October 2021 that has been sent to all Islington schools to be used in assemblies or in classes. The films – one aimed at key stage 1 and the other at key stages 2 and 3 – use stories from our resources to explore our responsibility to take action for human rights, with examples of action over deportation, the environment, high rents, the bedroom tax and racism. Our team consisted of Caroline, Rona, Pat, Tania and Martin – and our thanks to Roz Miller of IFF.

We provided a space for thinking about action

Over the course of the year several of our friends contributed thought-provoking blogs to the News and events' section of our home website. They are:

Aaron Rajesh, Prof Barry Supple, Charlotte-Rose Kennedy, Geraldine Murphy, Hannah Simpson, Helen Barnard, Louise Cooke, Onycha Walford, Tania Aubeelack, Victoria Nicholson and Dr Will Essilfie.

D. Financial Review

All of Journey to Justice's activities are planned on the basis of available funds and positive cash flows and therefore incur no liabilities that cannot be matched by income received.

Journey to Justice did not employ any paid staff or have any arrangement to use premises during the period and we are therefore not exposed to any associated liabilities.

On this basis, and taking into account Charity Commission guidance, the Trustees have decided that there is no requirement for Journey to Justice to hold unrestricted reserves for these purposes.

E. Reserves policy

The charity maintains sufficient level of reserves to meet its current obligations. This policy is reviewed regularly by the trustees.

F. Statement of responsibilities of the trustees

The trustees are responsible for preparing the trustees' annual report and the financial statements in accordance with applicable law and United Kingdom Accounting Standards (United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice).

Charity law requires the trustees to prepare financial statements for each financial year which give a true and fair view of the state of affairs of the charitable company and of the incoming resources and application of resources, including the income and expenditure, of the CIO for that period. In preparing these financial statements, the trustees are required to:

-) Select suitable accounting policies and then apply them consistently
-) Observe the methods and principles in the Charities SORP
-) Make judgements and estimates that are reasonable and prudent

-) State whether applicable UK Accounting Standards and statements of recommended practice have been followed, subject to any material departures disclosed and explained in the financial statements
-) Prepare the financial statements on the going concern basis unless it is inappropriate to presume that the charity will continue in operation

The trustees are responsible for keeping proper accounting records that disclose with reasonable accuracy at any time the financial position of the CIO and enable them to ensure that the financial statements comply with the Charities Act 2011. They are also responsible for safeguarding the assets of the CIO and hence for taking reasonable steps for the prevention and detection of fraud and other irregularities. The trustees are responsible for the maintenance and integrity of the information included on the CIO's website. Legislation in the United Kingdom governing the preparation and dissemination of financial statements may differ from legislation in other jurisdictions.

E. Declaration

The trustees declare that they have approved the trustees' report above.

Signed on behalf of the charity's trustees.

Independent examiner's report to the trustees of Journey to Justice

I report to the trustees on my examination of the accounts of the Journey to Justice for the year ended 31 March 2022.

Responsibilities and basis of report

As the charity trustees of the Trust you are responsible for the preparation of the accounts in accordance with the requirements of the Charities Act 2011 ('the Act').

I report in respect of my examination of the Trust's accounts carried out under section 145 of the 2011 Act and in carrying out my examination I have followed all the applicable Directions given by the Charity Commission under section 145(5)(b) of the Act.

Independent examiner's statement

I have completed my examination. I confirm that no material matters have come to my attention in connection with the examination giving me cause to believe that in any material respect:

1. accounting records were not kept in respect of the Trust as required by section 130 of the Act; or
2. the accounts do not accord with those records; or
3. the accounts do not comply with the applicable requirements concerning the form and content of accounts set out in the Charities (Accounts and Reports) Regulations 2008 other than any requirement that the accounts give a 'true and fair view which is not a matter considered as part of an independent examination.

I have no concerns and have come across no other matters in connection with the examination to which attention should be drawn in this report in order to enable a proper understanding of the accounts to be reached.

Journey to Justice

Notes to the financial statements

For the year ended 31 March 2022

1 Accounting policies

a) Basis of preparation

The financial statements have been prepared in accordance with Accounting and Reporting by Charities: Statement of Recommended Practice applicable to charities preparing their accounts in accordance with the Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (FRS 102 - effective 1 January 2015) - (Charities SORP FRS 102).

The charitable company meets the definition of a public benefit entity under FRS 102. Assets and liabilities are initially recognised at historical cost or transaction value unless otherwise stated in the relevant accounting policy or note.

b) Going concern

The trustees consider that there are no material uncertainties about the charitable company's ability to continue as a going concern. The trustees do not consider that there are any sources of estimation uncertainty at the reporting date that have a significant risk of causing a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities within the next reporting period.

c) Income

Income is recognised when the charity has entitlement to the funds, any performance conditions attached to the income have been met, it is probable that the income will be received and that the amount can be measured reliably.

Income from government and other grants, whether 'capital' grants or 'revenue' grants, is recognised when the charity has entitlement to the funds, any performance conditions attached to the grants have been met, it is probable that the income will be received and the amount can be measured reliably and is not deferred. Income received in advance for the provision of specified service is deferred until the criteria for income recognition are met.

d) Interest receivable

Interest on funds held on deposit is included when receivable and the amount can be measured reliably by the charity; this is normally upon notification of the interest paid or payable by the bank.

e) Fund accounting

Unrestricted funds are available to spend on activities that further any of the purposes of charity. Designated funds are unrestricted funds of the charity which the trustees have decided at their discretion to set aside to use for a specific purpose. Restricted funds are donations which the donor has specified are to be solely used for particular areas of the charity's work or for specific projects being undertaken by the charity.

f) Expenditure

Expenditure is recognised once there is a legal or constructive obligation to make a payment to a third party, it is probable that settlement will be required and the amount of the obligation can be measured reliably.

g) Allocation of support costs

Support costs are those functions that assist the work of the charity but do not directly undertake charitable activities. Support costs include back office costs, finance, personnel, payroll and governance costs which support the Trusts artistic programmes and activities. These costs have been allocated between cost of raising funds and expenditure on charitable activities.

h) Debtors

Trade and other debtors are recognised at the settlement amount due after any trade discount offered. Prepayments are valued at the amount prepaid net of any trade discounts due.

i) Cash at bank and in hand

Cash at bank and cash in hand includes cash and short term highly liquid investments with a short maturity of three months or less from the date of acquisition or opening of the deposit or similar account.

j) Creditors and provisions

Creditors and provisions are recognised where the charity has a present obligation resulting from a past event that will probably result in the transfer of funds to a third party and the amount due to settle the obligation can be measured or estimated reliably. Creditors and provisions are normally recognised at their settlement amount after allowing for any trade discounts due.
